

Contents

Acknowledgments . . . . .	xi
Introduction . . . . .	xiii
Why Should We Care about Ancient History? / xix
The Question of “Writing Christian History” and How This Book Is Organized / xx
A Personal Note / xxiv
1. The Roman Imperial Context and the “Religion of Empire” . . . . .	1
Religion in the Roman Empire / 1
Source of Divine Power in Public Religion / 3
The Home of the Gods and Places         of Sacred Encounter in Public Religion / 4
Sources of Divine Power in Private Religion / 6
The Home of the Gods and Places         of Sacred Encounter in Private Religion / 7
The Imperial Cult / 7
Philosophy / 9
Roman Social and Economic Structures / 9
The Urban Social Order / 9
The Economic Order / 12
Urban versus Rural Life / 14
Relationships with “Others” / 15
Relationship with the Earth and Its Creatures / 21
Paideia and Humanitas: How the Romans Transmitted         Their Worldview across Generations / 23
2. Alexandria and Carthage: Urban Laboratories for     Brewing “Christianity” . . . . .	25
Why Studying Specific Places Is So Important for Understanding How Christianity Developed / 25
Alexandria / 27
The Ptolemaic Era / 27
The Roman Era: A New Social Order / 28
Culture and Religion: The Unending Question of Identity / 30
Egyptians / 30
Jews / 31
Christian Origins in Alexandria / 33

Egyptian Religion / 33
Isis and Serapis / 35
Therapeutae / 36
Philosophers/Middle Platonists / 37
“Pagans” / 38
“Christians” / 38
Key Christians in Alexandria / 39
Second Century / 39
Third Century / 40
Fourth Century / 40
Carthage and North Africa / 41
The Pre-Roman City / 41
Roman Carthage and the Surrounding Region / 44
Culture and Religion in North Africa / 47
Local Religion / 47
Jews and Christians / 48
Key Christians in North Africa / 50
Second Century / 50
Third Century / 51
Fourth Century / 51
3. How Should Christians Read the Hebrew Scriptures? . . . . .	52
The Problem / 52
The Road Not Taken: Marcion’s and the “Gnostics”
Rejection of Hebrew Scriptures / 58
Reading Scripture in the New Testament / 58
Marcion: The God of the Hebrew Scriptures
Is Not the Father of Jesus / 62
The So-called Gnostics and the Development
of Counterstories to the Hebrew Scriptures / 65
Responses to Marcion and the Gnostics from the Writers of Emerging “Orthodoxy” / 67
Irenaeus: The “Rule of Faith” / 68
Justin Martyr: Hebrew Scripture
as “Prophecy” about Jesus / 71
Reading Hebrew Scripture in Alexandria / 72
Philo / 73
The Epistle of Barnabas / 76
Valentinus, Clement, and the Question of “Gnosis” / 77
Origen of Alexandria and the Establishment of a Systematic,
Christian Method for Interpreting Hebrew Scriptures / 81
4. “Christianity” Moves Closer to the “Religion of Empire”
(150–220 CE) . . . . .	92
Carthage / 92

Martyrdom / 92

Tertullian / 98

    Against Marcion: Defending the God of Fear and Judgment / 101

    Places of Sacred Encounter and the Question of Earth/Creation / 104

    Purpose of Human Life: Straddling the Space between Creation and Empire / 106

    Basic Social Structure: Embracing Imperial Hierarchical Patronage in the Church / 107

    Basic Economic Structure: Rejecting the Appearance of Wealth While Maintaining the Reality / 109

    Relationship with Unknown Others: Jews, Heretics, and Women / 111

Jews / 112

Heretics / 114

Women / 117

    Religious Obligations / 120

    Relationship with Earth/Land / 122

    Relationship with Enemies: War / 123

Alexandria / 126

Clement / 126

        The Role of Philosophy in Clement’s Thought / 128

        Philosophy and Scripture / 129

        Clement’s “Gnostic” / 131

        God’s “Home”: In Heaven and in the Mind of the Gnostic / 132

        Purpose of Human Life / 133

        Basic Social Structure: Stoic Hierarchy in Church and Society / 133

        Economics and Wealth / 135

        Relationship with “Others”: Jews, Heretics, and Strangers / 137

        Women, Sex, and Marriage / 138

        Relationship to Creation: Humans Are a “Heavenly Plant” / 139

        Loving Enemies and Participation in War / 139

5. “Christianity” up to and in Response to the Decian Persecution (220–255 CE) . . . . . 141

    The Roman Empire in the First Half of the Third Century, Decius’s Edict, and the Persecution of Christians / 141

    Alexandria: Origen / 146

Purpose of Human Life: Unity with the Divine / 146

Basic Social Structure: The Complex Role of the Roman Empire in Origen’s Theology / 147

War and Violence: The Early “Separation of Church and State” / 149

The Human Body and Sexuality: Mere Passing Distractions / 152

Earth and Creation: Made for Humans, but Only for a Short Time / 153

- Economics and Wealth: Outside God’s Concern* / 155
“Others”: Women, Pagans, Egyptians, and Jews / 156
 Women / 156
 Pagans and Egyptians / 157
 Jews / 158
Origen’s Reading of the Song of Songs / 158
 Carthage: Cyprian / 161
 God’s “Home”: In the Catholic Church Alone / 168
Basic Social Structure: Hierarchical Patronage / 172
Economics / 173
The Other: Jews / 175
Women, Sex, and the Body / 176
Earth/Creation / 176
Violence and War / 176
6. “Christianity” Becomes the Official Religion of the Empire . . . . . 178
 The Roman Empire in the Late Third Century / 179
Threats on the Frontiers / 179
Economic Woes / 180
Political Consequences: From a “Commonwealth of Cities” to a True “Empire” / 180
Religion: The Glue That Would Hold the Empire Together / 182
 Emperor Diocletian: Seeking to Bring Order to the Imperial Chaos / 186
 Constantine: Establishing “Christianity” as the “Religion of Empire” / 191
 Lactantius: The First Christian to Legitimize Constantine’s Reign / 199
 Eusebius: Celebrating the Imperial Church in Writing / 200
In Praise of Constantine / 201
The Life of Constantine / 202
The Council of Nicaea / 204
Church History / 208
7. “Christianity” Embraces Empire . . . . . 211
 After Constantine: The Roman Empire in the Late Fourth and Early Fifth Centuries / 215
 Athanasius, Patriarch of Alexandria / 219
Alexandria in the Fourth Century / 219
Athanasius: The Man and His Mission / 224
 The “Arian Controversy” and Its Aftermath / 224
 Athanasius and the “Life of Antony”: Seeking to Corral
 the Desert Monks into the Episcopal Sheepfold / 232
God’s Home: In the Catholic Church / 235
Social Order: Hierarchical Patronage / 235
Economics / 236
The Body, Men and Women, and Sexuality / 237

Others: Surrounded by “Ariomaniacs” / 239
Violence/War / 239
Earth/Creation / 240
Jerome / 241
Ambrose / 250
Augustine: Preacher, Theologian, Politician / 258
North Africa in the Fourth Century / 258
Augustine the Man / 263
Reading the Bible: Augustine Forges a Middle Road / 270
Where God Lives and the Purpose of Life: To Worship God in the Catholic Church and “in Heaven” / 272
Basic Social Structure: Hierarchy in Both Church and Society / 275
Economics: Following the Moderate Path / 276
Relationships with “Others” / 278
    Donatists: “Compel Them to Come In” / 278
    Pelagians / 281
    Jews / 283
    “Pagans” / 285
Body, Sex, and Gender / 287
Earth and Creation / 290
War and Peace / 291
The Consequences of Moderation / 294

Conclusion. . . . . 296

Bibliography. . . . . 299

Index of Ancient Sources . . . . . 335

Index of Modern Authors Quoted . . . . . 341