

Contents

Introduction

“How I Would Like a Church That Is Poor”— Pope Francis’s Vision of an Empty Church	vii
1 The Joy of the Gospel: A Call to Respond to Love	1
1.1 An Exhortation to New Epistemic Practices?	3
1.2 Joy and the Inner Condition	9
1.3 Open Epistemic Practices: Divine Creativity and         a Church of the Poor	17
1.4 The Idea of Orthodoxy	24
2 The Gospel of Joy: Orthodoxy as Discipleship	31
2.1 Jesus Builds a Church of the Poor	32
2.2 The Danger of Impurity	45
2.3 Jesus Transforms Epistemic Practices	51
2.4 Jesus and Healing Faith	62
3 Poverty and the Wound of Knowledge	65
3.1 The Wound of Knowledge	66
3.2 The Experience of Poverty	78
3.3 Poverty and the Epistemic Situation	85
3.4 An “Option for the Poor”: Overcoming Indifference	89
4 A Church of the Poor	98
4.1 A Call to Conversion	99
4.2 Poverty as a Thorn in the Flesh	105
4.3 A Church of the Poor as Risky and Costly	122
4.4 The Church of the Poor and Epistemic Practices	131

5 Orthodoxy in a New Key: Faith in Practice	140
5.1 Propositional Orthodoxy	141
5.2 Institutional Orthodoxy	150
5.3 Existential Orthodoxy	161
5.4 Orthodoxy of Pilgrims	169
Epilogue
On Loving God	183
Bibliography	194
Index	211